

The first Elite Men should arrive around 13:30 at Sea Otter Europe, followed one hour later by the Elite Women, and the Master category. At 15:00, the La Tramun winners' celebration will take place as well as the Final Overall HERO UCI Marathon World Cup Prize Giving Ceremony.

THE PODIUM FAVOURITES

Following the mid-July Black Forest ULTRA Bike Marathon, the results were as clear as they could be when it came to the potential winners of the first-ever HERO UCI Marathon World Cup. The Elite Women ranking is spearheaded by Rosa van Doorn (860 points) from The Netherlands, representing Team Buff-Megamo – she'll have to keep a close eye on Sandra Mairhofer (710 points) from Italy, who's right behind her. The final podium will see Debora Piana (580 points), also from Italy, and Lejla Njemcevic (560 points) from Bosnia battling it out, as they're respectively third and fourth. In the men's ranking, Andreas Seewald (830 points) from Germany, racing for Singer KTM Racing, is leading the table after a start where he flew under everyone's radar. Three cyclists are nipping at his heels: Wout Alleman (700 points) from Belgium representing Buff-Megamo, Gioele De Cosmo (616 points) from Italy, and Leo Paez (604 points) from Colombia. The Elite Men and Women podium winners will take part in a press conference at 16:00 on Sunday, 21 September, at the Fontajau Pavillion to give journalists an impression of the highlights of this edition.
