Map and GPS ROUTE

The race route is 60,04 km long and has a cumulative elevation gain of 2,000 meters. This route follows trails and paths that crisscross the landscapes of the Pyrenees, providing participants with a unique experience. Starting from the Naturland Cota2000 site, at km 1.6, we cross into Catalonia for a 7km descent along a track towards Arcavell to an altitude of 1300m. We glide until we reach the village of Bescaran (km 21), where we find a refreshment point to face a 13km climb to km 33 at an altitude of 2200m. Here we re-enter Andorran territory, where we have a technical team section. Afterwards, the most technical part of the route begins with a downhill trial to an altitude of 1400m with another refreshment point, where we begin to climb, alternating between trail and road, to reach an altitude of 2000m, where we reach the finish line.
